SCHOOL REPORT

For the Year Ending March 1st, 1893.

The school year just closed has been a very profitable one to the scholars of the district generally. Nearly all the teachers have had previous experience in teaching, and were therefore better qualified to successfully carry on their school and awaken an interest in their scholars.

In order to learn well scholars must be interested in the school, and it is the teacher's duty to try and create an interest; but she will often fail in a measure, not from any fault of hers but from neglect on the part of those who ought to do the most to make the school interesting. I refer to those parents who are, or at least seem to be, indifferent to all matters pertaining to schools. They never visit school or attend school-meeting. If you desire to have your child interested, show interest enough yourself to visit the school a few times in the year. And then do not fail to go to school meeting. Let every person who has a scholar be present to help do the business. Do not leave this for those who have no children to send to school, and therefore no interest in the meeting except to make the schools shorter by preventing the raising of money which will increase their taxes. They are simply doing what seems to them to be best for themselves. You go and do what will be best for you and yours and then you will have done your duty and nothing more. Some of the school houses are old and out of repair so that new ones ought to be built. Some are so bad that they are unfit to hold a school in at any time of the year, but when it becomes cold weather it is impossible for the scholars to keep warm in them so we have not been able to have as many weeks of school in them as in the more comfortable houses, and that is why the report shows so large an unexpended balance. Let us have good respectable school houses and we will have better schools.
